

PROFESSOR'S HOUSEHOLD IN THE EARLY MODERN TIMES

An interdisciplinary workshop held at the Faculty of Social Sciences, History, Tampere University, Finland
February 9–10, 2023
Venue: Pinni B 1029 (Olkari)

Program

Thursday (February 9th)

10:15 Welcoming words

10:35–12 Session A: Social and material assets of academic communities

- Christina Stehling, Calculate. Invest. Getting into debt. Marburg professorial families and their finances
- Jacob Schilling, “Many books, less cattle”. Widows and orphans of German professors and scholars in the early 18th century
- Robin Engblom, Extended families as part of scholars’ reciprocal relationships 1640-1718

12–13 Lunch in the restaurant Minerva (Pinni B building)

13:00–14:45 Session B: Written manifestations of family in academic communities

- Eeva-Liisa Bastman & Sari Kivistö, The professor’s family as a literary milieu: Occasional poetry in the Flachsenius family
- Tiina Miettinen, Premodern genealogy in premodern academic circles
- Minna Vesa, Academic ideas of family and marriage in the 17th century Sweden

14:45–15:15 Coffee break

15:15–17 Session C: Materiality and finances of the academic household

- Annika Windahl Pontén, The Linnaeus household in Uppsala 1741-1783
- Hannes Eriksson, Home of the learned: Material culture & status manifestation in the Ekerman/Aurivillius household 1783-1829
- Gudrun Andersson, Academic spouses: female assets in professorial households at Uppsala university

Friday (February 10th)

10:00–11:45 Session D: Mothers & fathers, heads of the family

- Sini Mikkola, Loving husband, exalted father: Martin Luther's emotional practices and family life
- Miia Kuha, From academic to clerical families: lecturers' wives in the diocese of Vjyborg (ca. 1650–1720)
- Mari Välimäki, Mother, wife and even more. Professors' wives in the 17th century Sweden

11:45–12:30 Lunch in the restaurant Minerva (Pinni B building)

12:30–14:30 Session E: Discussions on the concept of family

14:30–15 Coffee and closing remarks